RESCUE HOME

that we have here some difficulties peculiar to this place, but I have no doubt as to the outcome as soon as we have things in proper running order. Our little temporary place was altogether too small, but we have at last secured a larger one, where we can accommodate at least twenty to twenty-five people.

"The furnishing of this Home will be quite a big item. I have figured out that we shall need about $400 right away to put in sufficient beds and fittings to just barely furnish it; our list of monthly subscribers will also need augmenting very much. When we get in running order I expect that the work done by the girls will bring in an income, and we shall gladly welcome any needlework, embroidery, etc., which the ladies of the city can send in. Many perhaps cannot afford to give cash towards the Home's support, but they could perhaps give us work to do, which would be equally as welcome. In most places, too, we find good-hearted merchants who donate certain amounts of goods monthly, thus lowering our expenses, and possibly we shall have some of our friends here doing likewise. The closing of Iwilei has thrown upon the good citizens the necessity of assisting all of these women who desire to be assisted, and the Salvation Army, with the people's help, will endeavor to step into the breach. So far I have been received most beautifully and have nothing but good to say of Honolulu's people."
